When we think about history, we embark on a great journey through time, filled with events that are translated into memories and symbols that permeate our reality and shape who we are. The storyline of Brazil is no different, as it is impossible to talk about Brazilians without acknowledging our connection to nature - roots inherited from those who were here first: the Indigenous people. The headdress, known as "cocar," carries profound mysticism and holds great pride for Indigenous tribes. Due to its significance, it goes beyond being a mere decorative item; it represents the very essence of a people whose story continues to be told, a story that gave birth to our own. This is the inspiration behind our artisanal production, a reinterpretation of the cocar crafted with natural materials such as straw, wheat, and shells, embodying what we seek: memory, design, and Brazilian identity.

OUR STORY

We are Bastien Colombier and Hubert Trollé, the founders of Rua Madeira. Passionate about Brazilian design, we travel the roads of this beautiful country to meet with talented designers and artisans in order to create a unique collection. We are happy to share our passion for quality design furniture. Timeless furniture made to last, which our customers will be happy to pass on to future generations.

We have the pleasure to meet and work closely with each of our artisans. This allows us to be involved in all product processes: from the selection of eco-responsible wood and other raw materials to packaging and delivery. Each product in our collection passes through our hands, allowing us to ensure our clients receive the highest quality pieces and customer service. Exclusive and accessible high-end furniture that you won't find elsewhere.

OUR COMMITMENT

Rua Madeira takes its inspiration from iconic Brazilian design pieces created by the most talented and recognised mid-century designers. With the help of contemporary designers and respecting the artisan's principles and techniques, Rua Madeira creates tomorrow's design furniture.

Experts in exceptional Brazilian design furniture, we partner with the best Brazilian artisans to bring original and unique high-quality furniture. Our pieces bring a unique design and a warm side to your interior. Respectful of nature, our craftsmen use wood from eco-responsible management.
